

Australian College of Educators

Stefanie Kocon, Southern Cross University

Stefanie makes learning science accessible and enjoyable for students where her love and deep knowledge of the subject is always in evidence. Stefi is a highly organised and articulate teacher who communicates clearly with students to ensure optimal understanding of the material under discussion. Students consistently point to her approachability, her exceptional knowledge and her ability to engage her students. 'We are so lucky to have her!' is a typical comment on the anonymous end of session student feedback on Stefi's teaching. Stefanie is a worthy recipient of recognition on World Teachers' Day.
